To Whom It May Concern:

I have had the pleasure of working with Mr. Eric Lyden for the past 10 years. During this time I was a Cruise Director and a Booker for a couple of major cruise lines.

I have seen him perform to over 100,000 people in many different venues all over the world. Bottom line is Eric is a guaranteed laugh attack for the crowd. His comic timing and self-deprecating sense of humor has people rolling in the aisles. He has performed in front of people from over 70 different nationalities all across the world and his humor translates to all that see him.

He was the "take out" act for all of the new ships that we brought out of the shipyard. Which translates in him being the best at what he does.

Beyond this his acting skills and voice-overs are one part of Eric's arsenal that is not talked about enough. His impressions are some of the most spot on I have ever witnessed and his acting skills have landed him roles in TV and film. They also are well used in his stand up routines.

Eric has a brilliant ability to continue to write and develop new material all of the time. Unlike a lot of comedians that I have worked with before his act completely changes each time I see him. He is constantly updating his act with current and fresh material. He is always on the cutting edge of his profession.

Off stage Eric is one of the most genuine and caring people that you will ever meet. He is a very loving family man that adores his wife and two daughters. He is the best friend that you could ever wish for. He is generous to a fault and would give you the shirt off his back.

He has a real passion for everything he does and this comes across in everything that he touches. Hands down one of the funniest people that I have worked with but beyond that one of the best people I know.

Respectfully,

Richard Spacey,
Cruise Director
